

President, Sara Prochaska, brought the meeting to order. Secretary, Afton Vaughn, read minutes. Jane Wallace moved to accept the minutes and Julie Ebert seconded. Moved by Jane Wallace.

Sara Prochaska shared enthusiasm about the new year and the new clubs. No changes were made to the treasurer report. Kris Pilcher moved that the rule book be reprinted this year due to the large amounts of updates needed. Due to the cost, you will have to get a new rule book from Kris, at a show it will be $3.00 or by mail at $5.00. You may also print a rule book off the internet from the EKHA website.

Sara Prochaska encouraged clubs to have at least one person from their club learn how to hook up the timers. Tammy Kruse made motion that each club will provide their own barrels. During discussion Mark thought that the PVC pipe for the poles and the kegs should be provided as well. Afton Vaughn motioned that each club provide their own barrels, kegs, and poles. (The pole bases will be provided by the EKHA.) It was seconded by Julie Ebert. Clubs may contact Ron Schmutz (785-827-5305) to find barrels. It was mentioned to drill a hole in the bottom of the kegs to prevent sticking. Clubs make sure your properties meet the specifications in the rulebook. Or read your next newsletter.

Beth Cormack, Vice President, stated that she no longer requires an electronic copy for the website, however she still prefers it. She would like to post pictures so please send the pictures you take at the shows to her. Pictures should be jpeg. Also the scholarship is on the website. Seniors, college is expensive and this is a great opportunity to get assistance. Don't wait until the last minute, do it ASAP.

Meagan Dalton motioned to donate $100 to Alison McCall for Miss Teen Rodeo. Discussion followed and the motion failed. Meagan motioned to donate $25 to Alison McCall and Heather Darling seconded and it passed.

Debbie Thompson introduced Lidia Rosten and Carol Plybon from the Appaloosa Horse Club. They are interested in having a show with us in the future.

Jill Schmutz motioned to adjourn and everybody seconded!
